

MAY PLACE DOROTHY ELLINGSON ON STAND IN SANITY HEARING

Girl Matricide Guarded After Attack On Her — Own Attorneys

San Francisco, Calif., April 8.—A sensational eleventh hour effort to place Dorothy Ellingson, 17 year old matricide, on the witness stand to testify concerning her own sanity loomed as a possibility as the hearing neared an end today.

That the youthful "jazz baby" was cognizant of such secret plans was revealed in her hysterical outburst in the midst of her sanity trial late yesterday when, after hurling water upon her own counsel, she exclaimed: "Wait till I get on the stand. I'll tell the truth about those matters."

The trial was resumed today. Dorothy was seated between two police matrons to prevent any further attacks upon her counsel. In some quarters it was believed the outbreak of the girl—the first violent manifestation that has occurred before the jury—would cause abandonment of the state's plan to get her upon the stand.

It was pointed out if the girl could not stand the strain of hearing other witnesses she might create a scene upon the stand as would defeat the purpose of the state in placing her there.

There was a possibility that the case might reach the jury by nightfall. The state had virtually completed its case with adjournment last night. The defense will call no rebuttal witnesses unless something unexpected develops today. An agreement will limit argument on each side to three hours.

Together with the thrilling spectacle of Dorothy acting upon an "irresistible impulse" the jury will have before it the unusual testimony of Dr. Joseph Catton, state alienist.

On the witness stand this witness told the jury Dorothy had a "darn nice family history" compared to some cases.

In explaining that he found her definitely sane the doctor used such terms as "goofy," "nuts," "cracked," and "out of the head," which he said was common parlance for insanity and none of which applied to the defendant. The jury heard him pass the lie direct to defense counsel. He declared Dorothy was definitely and absolutely sane and that he had never found any ear marks of insanity in her.

Dr. Edward F. Twitchell, another state alienist, had labelled the girl as a "moral defective." He said she is not normal; that she is calloused in her ethical duties and "has a blunted, obtuse moral side." He maintained, however, that she is sane.

EASTER BUNNY SAD—EGGS AT TOP PRICE

The Easter bunny looks rather sad these days. He's probably mourning over the comparison between the price of eggs during the Easter season this year and last.

Eggs were on the market last Easter for seventeen cents per dozen and this year the charge has jumped to twenty-five cents or thereabouts.

Eggs this year at some markets have reached the peak of thirty-three cents a dozen. The increased demand for eggs by hatcheries has boomed the cost, it is said.

Hen fruit this year is a scarce article at best, dealers say, and the exorbitant cost must be paid to obtain the eggs.

SYMPATHY COSTLY DECLARES VICTIM

Lorain, O., April 8.—Paul Konienzy is through with the sympathy racket and tears will hereafter find his heart a stone. Too much sympathy today cost him $1000.

A weeping stranger and a companion offered Konienzy half of the insurance of a dead brother if he would aid in securing a passport. As a guarantee of good faith, Konienzy put up $1,000.

"That's the last I saw of either the money or the men," he explained to police.

RELIEF SENT TO FIRE STRICKEN VILLAGE

Marquette, Mich., April 8.—A relief expedition was sent to the village of Chatham, 35 miles southeast of Marquette today with food and clothing for the 200 residents of that village whom a fire sweeping the village, left homeless. Only four buildings out of more than 30 remained standing.

Two boys, playing with matches, are believed to have started the blaze. No one was hurt.

The village had no fire fighting equipment.

Residents spent last night huddled in the railway depot and its sheds.

MILLIONS IN PROPERTY LOSS IN FOREST FIRES

DONAHEY SENDS SECRETARY WITH SON TO CLEAR ZANESVILLE MYSTERY

Governor Aroused Over Charges Hal Knows Something Of Disappearance of Girl—Ire Aroused Over Newspaper Reports.

Columbus, April 8.—Announcement that young Hal Donahey, son of Governor Vic Donahey, confessed having fled to Columbus fifteen-year-old Lillian Vogel, from Zanesville, last Sunday night was made at the Governor's office this afternoon. Lillian is understood to be here with persons said to be relatives. On behalf of Governor Donahey, his secretary, Jake Meckstroth, informed the chief of police and prosecutor at Zanesville. Governor Donahey has announced he will co-operate in every way possible in seeing justice done.

Columbus, April 8.—James W. Huffman, executive clerk to Governor Donahey, accompanied by young Hal Donahey, a son of the Governor, will leave early this afternoon for Zanesville to investigate the sensational allegations linking Hal's name with the reported disappearance of Lillian Vogel, 15, from Zanesville, last Sunday night.

Huffman was ordered to Zanesville after the governor. Huffman and Jacob M. Meckstroth, secretary to the governor, had grilled Hal for more than half an hour on additional reports of the youth's recent activities in Zanesville.

Columbus, April 8.—Governor Donahey's wrath boiled over today as a result of the publicity which has been given to Hal Donahey's alleged connection with the reported disappearance of Lillian Vogel, 15 year old Zanesville girl.

"I think it is a crime that an innocent family has to suffer when Hal is absolutely innocent of any connection with this girl's disappearance," the governor declared when he appeared at his office after working half the night signing bills.

"It's a shame the way the newspapers are 'playing' this story. If they keep it up and put Mrs. Donahey on her back, I'll get after them," the governor added.

Hal, the governor's son, whose motor ride last Sunday night to Zanesville got him all the unpleasant publicity, accompanied his father to the executive offices. Attempts by newspaper men to influence the governor to send Hal with them to Zanesville to clear up the mystery thus far has been unavailing.

Several Jews Hurt While Others Join With Arabs In Galilee To Welcome British Lord

Jerusalem, April 8.—While Jews and Arabs of Galilee were joining in welcome to Lord Balfour, Great Britain's foremost advocate of Jewish colonization in Palestine, Arab feeling flared up at Nablos, Syria, in an attack on the Jews. Several Jews were injured.

It was the first outbreak since Lord Balfour's arrival despite the strike by Arabs the day he reached Jerusalem.

Jewish farmers of Roshina, Galilee, adopting the custom of the Arab neighbors killed a sheep for the feast in honor of Lord Balfour, it was learned today.

The visiting dignitary, acknowledging the greetings of the oldest settler of the district, scored those who turned a microscopic eye toward small happenings in Palestine, overlooking the great beneficial effects of the Zionist policy which has inaugurated an era of material prosperity and "spiritual harmony."

A mounted Arab escort, representing the whole district, joined Jewish horsemen in meeting and escorting Lord Balfour's party to the colony, where services were held in the synagogue.

The oldest sheik welcomed Balfour from the pulpit, assuring the distinguished Christian that Moslems and Jews had lived in the district harmoniously for thirty-five years.

New York, April 8.—The kitchen of a neatly furnished flat in Astoria, N. Y., was turned into a death chamber today when Joseph Reichel, 28, shot and killed his wife, May, 30, and then pressed the still smoking muzzle of the gun against his temple and ended his own life.

Reichel was a seaman. He had been drinking, Alfred Kneib, 26, his best friend, told police. Kneib, a boarder in the Reichel home related to the authorities the circumstances of the killing. Kneib denied he was the cause of the family dissension.

Fire destroyed a barn on the farm of R. B. McKay, Wilmington and Xenia Pike, nine miles from Xenia, between 7 and 8 o'clock Tuesday night, with its contents including six horses and five cows, entailing loss estimated at more than $3,000.

Origin of the blaze has not been determined and the possibility that electric wires from the home lighting system were defective is the only theory advanced regarding source of the fire.

Mr. McKay had been milking in the barn twenty minutes before the fire was discovered from the house. At that time the barn was full of flames and efforts of volunteers summoned were unavailing in the attempt to save the structure. The fire had gained such headway that it was impossible to reach the cattle stanchions or the stalls where the horses were kept. One horse, badly burned, managed to break loose and escape, and is still living.

Besides the livestock, all other contents, including a quantity of hay, farm implements and all the harness, were destroyed. The barn was a large, frame structure of the bank-barn type. A corn crib, hen house and smaller barn in the vicinity were not burned and the house some distance away was not endangered, because there was no wind to carry the sparks.

Although volunteers were helpless to save the building, the Wilmington Fire Department responded to a call and stood ready to assist in saving other buildings. By the time the firemen had made the nine mile run, the structure was beyond saving. The loss is partially covered by insurance, including partial coverage on the livestock.

HOUSE DESTROYED
A two-story frame house on the farm owned by Joseph Sutton, west of Goss Station and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Randall, was entirely destroyed by fire from unknown origin, Tuesday morning.

The fire was discovered about 10:30 o'clock, the entire roof ablaze, and before farmers could reach the scene, the structure was beyond saving. Mr. and Mrs. Randall managed to save part of their furniture. Since there was no wiring in the house the cause of the fire is a mystery, and it is not known whether it started on the outside of the roof or in the attic.

Mr. Sutton was working in the woods near the house at the time the fire was discovered and a bell at the farm was rung to attract his attention. He thought it was a dinner bell and did not come to the scene until the house was totally destroyed. A woodhouse and a smokehouse nearby caught fire from the house but were saved.

The house was only partially insured and to replace the farm home would take between $5,000 and $6,000. It was said.

VON HINDENBURG TO SEEK PRESIDENCY FOR REACTIONARIES

Aged War Veteran Accepts The Nomination—Influenced By Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm

Berlin, April 8.—The reichsbloc, comprising the Nationalist parties and the reactionary element today succeeded in persuading Field Marshal Erich Von Hindenburg, the 77 year old veteran, to accept the presidential nomination.

Von Hindenburg's acceptance was announced following a conference between the veteran general and Admiral Von Tirpitz, at Hanover. The monarchistic forces had persuaded Germany's "grand old man of the sea" to prevail upon the "grand old man of the army," to take the step it was believed would bring victory to the Nationalists.

It was only with an effort that Von Hindenburg was persuaded to enter the race. His refusal was first reported, then his reconsideration then again his definite refusal. Even today, before his acceptance, of the candidacy, he was reported to have told Von Tirpitz:

"I am too old to accept such a difficult and responsible post."

Von Hindenburg will oppose Wilhelm Marx, former chancellor and candidate of the Republican coalition. The delay of the nationalist bloc, to secure a candidate for the second presidential election April 26, elated the Republicans who were convinced by it that Marx will be victor in the run off election.

Hanover, Germany, April 8.—It was a private message from the former kaiser, Wilhelm, that "it was the only way to save the nation," which influenced Field Marshal Von Hindenburg to reconsider his decision and decide to become a candidate for the presidency April 26. It was said here today.

Added to this was said to be the insistent argument of Admiral Von Tirpitz that Hindenburg was the "only man able to defeat Marx," the Republican.

The great question here following Hindenburg's decision to seek the presidency was whether Ludendorff will support him or announce his own candidacy.

GIRL SENTENCED TO INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL FOR SHOPLIFTING

Grace McFadden, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McFadden, North King Street, was sentenced to the Girls' Industrial School at Delaware, in Dayton Juvenile Court, Tuesday morning. The girl will be taken to the institution this week to serve an indeterminate sentence.

The girl has been held by Dayton Juvenile Court authorities in the Detention House in that city, after she and her aunt, Mrs. John Fudge, this city, were found shoplifting in a Dayton store a few weeks ago.

Mrs. Fudge was charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor and was let out on bond, furnished by a Dayton attorney. She disappeared the day after the hearing and has never been located.

The girl was sentenced to the Industrial Home on the shoplifting charge, by Judge Roland W. Baggett. She was represented in court by Attorney F. L. Johnson of Xenia.

Crime Roundup

May Vaughan, who is said to be wanted in California on a murder charge, was arrested by Philadelphia police in a raid on a rooming house which resulted in the capture of five men believed responsible for a series of daring robberies throughout the country.

Washington April 8.—American entry to the world court can be accomplished only if peace organizations abandon all efforts to carry the United States in either the league of nations or the Geneva security protocol, Senator Frank B. Willis, Republican of Ohio, declared yesterday in replying to a query from the American peace award, a pro-league organization. Willis announced his intention to fight for early decision by the senate on the world court issue next fall.

He declared favorable action however, would be conditioned on elimination of all advisory opinions by the court and cessation of all other international propaganda.

"If a way could be found," Willis added, "I am entirely opposed to our country entering the league of nations, directly or indirectly, but I am very much in favor of adherence to the permanent court on these conditions."

Barnesville, April 8.—Dairying is one of the best forms of farming because the producer receives better than 75 per cent of the consumer's dollar, declared Louis J. Taber, Barnesville, master of the National Grange. Taber said the truth of his statement may readily be realized by comparing this percentage with that received from wheat. He declared the average of the consumer's dollar received by the wheat producer is 20 cents.

Department Of Commerce Launches Investigation Of Land Frauds—Farmers Said To Have Sold Farms To Invest In Foreign Agricultural Lands

Washington, April 8.—Hundreds of Americans, mostly farmers in the agriculture regions of the Middle West, have lost large sums, in some cases their entire fortunes, in South American land ventures, officials of the department of commerce said today.

An exhaustive investigation into operations of the fraudulent land companies, has been conducted and the facts unearthed will shortly be placed before the department of justice and the postoffice department with a view to prosecution.

During the recent economic depression in the Middle and Southwest, a number of individuals and organizations are said to have done an extensive business in the sale of South American land.

Promise of land of great fertility was the lure which caused hundreds of farmers to "sell out" and invest in the foreign agricultural lands.

FAMILIES HOMELESS FOLLOWING NIGHT OF TERROR FROM FLAMES

Three States Swept By Fires—Flames Now Under Control

Boston, April 8.—Homeless families and destroyed property worth several million dollars were revealed by the Sun today after forest fires had created a night of terror in a score or more towns in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New Hampshire.

Tired volunteer fire fighters reported, however, that all the fires had either burned themselves out or were under control today.

A summary of the forest fire damage follows:

Rhode Island: Five homes destroyed. Many animals, horses, pigs, goats and dogs, were burned to death. Villages of Crompton, Anthony and Washington hemmed in at one time by walls of fire. The villages were saved by back fires.

New Hampshire: Forest fire, with three mile front destroyed three homes in Deerfield, igniting 19 houses at one time and burned over 3,000,000 feet of timber. Citizens of Boscawen battled all night with the forest fire with burned one home and destroyed 50 acres of timber. Summer colony at Ashland, threatened with destruction with fire-swept outlying sections.

Massachusetts: Two thousand acres of timber burned in Marlborough and a hundred homes menaced.

Eight hundred acres burned over in the Prospect Hill district of Whitinsville. Seventy five thousand pine trees destroyed by fire in South Bridge. Scores of autoists had narrow escapes in fleeing from the onrushing flames. Many daring rescues were recorded during the night.

In the Rocky Hill section of West Warwick, R. I. a woman was trapped in her home by fire on all sides. A volunteer fireman in an automobile rode through the wall of flames and rescued her from certain death.

MINE STRIKE HAS HURT PRODUCTION

Fairmont, W. Va., April 8.—The strike called by the United Mine Workers of America in the northern section of West Virginia, as an effort to unionize all mines in the state, has resulted in an approximate 50 per cent reduction in work. Van A. Bitter, personnel representative of John L. Lewis, International Mine Workers' president, in charge of strike operations, said.

Directly divergent from Hitler's statements, George S. Brackett, secretary of the northern West Virginia Coal Operators' association, declared that of a normal working force of 125 to 130 mines in the strike district, 128 are working today with a tonnage of 92 per cent of normal mined yesterday.

"The slight reduction from normal tonnage conditions is due to a combination of the small effectiveness of the strike and current market conditions," Brackett said.

JEW TO CELEBRATE FEAST OF PASSOVER

Wednesday evening, April 8, ushers in the Feast of the Passover, which will be observed by the Jewish people the world over.

According to the religious rules the festival is to last seven days, only the first and seventh to be kept "holy" by total abstention from labor. Orthodox Jews however, observe the festival for eight days, the first two days and the last two days being considered "holy."

In ancient times, when the Israelites in Palestine engaged primarily in farming, Passover possessed an agricultural significance marking the beginning of the harvest season. Since post-exilic days, however, the festival has largely lost its agricultural meaning and it is observed primarily in commemoration of the great event in Israel's history, when it was freed from the shackles of Egyptian bondage and emerged as a free people taking its place among the builders of human civilization. If Jewish history is to be compared with American history, Passover may well be designated as the Jewish Independence Day.

OHIO Center of The Rubber Industry

The automobile tire today is regarded all over the country almost as suggestive of Ohio as the buckeye.

More than half of the tires and tubes used in the United States are manufactured in Ohio. Not only in these products is the state dominant, but of all the rubber articles on the market, more than half of those sold in the United States and more than one-third of what the entire world requires comes from its factories.

Although the industry is centered in Akron, rubber factories of considerable size are located in other cities and are making them important centers.

It may be truly said that rubber goods carry the name of Ohio to every nook and corner of the globe.

The telephone has played its part in the development of this industry as in all others, and that it may be ready at all times to meet the demands for more extensive service as Ohio industry expands and the population increases, The Ohio Bell Telephone Company will spend $71,000,000 in the next five years in betterments and extensions.

The public is always welcome to visit any Bell exchange, to see how the calls are handled, and have all operating details explained by employees.

MARSHAL SCHNEIDER RAISES QUESTION ON CONCEALED WEAPONS; RULING REFUSED

If it is unlawful to carry a weapon concealed on or about the person, it should be unlawful to carry arms concealed in the pocket of an automobile, according to Marshal W. A. Schneider, Osborn, who wrote Attorney General C. C. Crabbe, Columbus for a ruling on the concealed weapons law last week.

Marshal Schneider asked for the ruling after two men arrested near Osborn with several weapons and ammunition in their automobile were released from custody and the case against them dismissed on a rehearing in Probate Court.

The charge was dismissed on a strict interpretation of the law which says it is only actionable to carry weapons concealed "on or about the person." Evidence in the case disposed of shows that the weapons confiscated by Osborn officials were taken from the automobile in which the men were found sleeping along the pike. The quantity of firearms indicated to village officials that the men had sinister intent which was emphasized by the fact that license plates of their automobile were also off and concealed within the car.

Attorney General Crabbe refused

One film was shown at the Bijou and Orpheum Theaters in Xenia Tuesday night.

LEMONS BLEACH THE SKIN WHITE

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quart of the most wonderful skin whitener, softer and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also a freckle sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

"CAP" STUBBS—Hey! What Do They Think!

to give a ruling in the answer Marshal Schneider received to his letter of request. The answer reads: "This will acknowledge receipt of your letter of April 3rd concerning the law in regard to concealed weapons."

"In reply to same, it is respectfully suggested that the Attorney General cannot render opinions to municipal officers. Your municipal attorney is your legal adviser and it would not be proper for the Attorney General to assume his duties."

"For your information, you are referred to sections 12,819 and 12,693 of the General Code."

There is a bill before the legislature now concerning the carrying of weapons in cars, but I believe it only covers liquor cases."

Section 12819 of the General Code follows: "Whoever carries a pistol bowie knife, dirk or other dangerous weapons concealed on or about his person shall be fined not to exceed $500 or imprisoned in the County Jail or Work House not less than thirty days nor more than six months, or imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than one year nor more than three years. Provided however, that this act shall not affect the right of sheriffs, regularly appointed police, officers of incorporated cities and villages, regularly elected constables and special officers, to go armed when on duty. Provided further that it shall be lawful for deputy sheriffs and specially appointed police officers except as are appointed or called in to serve by virtue of authority of sections () to go armed, if they first give bond to the state of Ohio, to be approved by Court of Common Pleas in the sum of $1,000 conditions to save the public harm, less by reason of any unlawful use of such weapons carried by them and any may have recourse on said bond."

In reference to the suggestion of the Attorney General that a bill now pending would make it unlawful to carry weapons concealed in an automobile only in liquor cases, Marshal Schneider suggests that the bill be amended to refer to all cases of weapons concealed in an automobile.

The officers points out that bandits planning to perpetrate a crime are immune to punishment or arrest if their weapons are arried in their automobiles instead of "on or about their person", even though the vigilance of officers should result in their apprehension before the intended crime could be committed. He points out that because of this in effectual law the good work of the officers would thus go for naught.

ONE LITTLE LETTER CHANGES MEANING

Dropping of the wrong letter in the linotype line in a correction line in an advertisement in this paper recently, caused the advertisement to say just the reverse of what was intended.

The ad should have read: "It is not our aim to lead you into our store * * * and then sell you cheap products put up in our label, as we have none." Instead the last phrase read, "as we have done." The mistake was a typographical error after the ad had been proof-read, a liability to which all newspapers are subject.

FRAUDULENT SECURITIES

A CONFERENCE to standardize the Blue-Sky laws of various states is heartily favored by investment bankers. The fact that a bond is listed on the New York Stock Exchange is accepted in all states with the exception of a very few as conformity with the requirements for local distribution. Such confidence in Wall street comes as a surprise. Fraudulent securities are hawked to an eagerly buying and gullible public. Sound investments carrying six, eight and even ten percent seem to have little attraction for the big percentage of buyers but just show them some figures, carefully compiled by a master mind, which will "guarantee" a return of from twenty to thirty-five percent and there is a rush to get in on the ground floor—but few there are who come out on top. Then there is a hue and a cry about "fraud" and "misrepresentation," the victims all unmindful that such dividends are generally, in fact almost unanimously, illegitimate if procured and that they themselves are the ones upon whom the blame for losses should rest.

So somehow bootleggers of one kind or another seem to make liquid assets, as well as liquid poisons, flow up hill over legal obstacles and the legitimate investment bankers feel called upon to recommend such action as will seek to protect these poor fish from themselves. To accomplish this end it is apparent that the forces of state, interstate and government control must operate in harmony. That was the thought in President Coolidge's comment on a recent grand jury finding in Philadelphia with regard to prohibition enforcement. Perhaps it is also the solution of protecting the average man's wealth no less than his health.

THE RISE OF WOMAN

NEITHER is America or England the only country in which women are making places for themselves in the lawmaking bodies of their nation. In the German Reichstag there are thirty-three women members out of the total of four hundred and ninety-three. Johanna Reitze is one of these. She was at one time a servant girl but now she is a lawmaker. Another is Elfriede Rynek who was a dressmaker. And why not? Who knows better what is the matter with the country than those who have been cast among "the other half"? Several other women members were school teachers. That's fine. School teachers do not get what they are justly entitled to in our so-called civilization so let them go to congress and do something about it if they can.

It will probably be a long time before there are thirty-three women in the congress of the United States. There are plenty of women in politics, or say that they are, but few of them are in earnest as the most of them have simply lined up with the old parties in order to get in and are either looking for glory and publicity or for a new thrill in the way of amusement.

"CONSTANT MONKEYING"

THAT the farmer needs an equal opportunity with other business men, not a "constant monkeying" on the part of the government, as expressed by Secretary of Agriculture Jardine, strikes a responsive chord in most of his fellow agriculturists. "Constant monkeying" is one of our chief legislative faults and the new head of the "farm department" does the farmer a service by protesting against it.

"The least governed nation is the best governed" is a maxim in which there may be some exaggeration but the idea at the bottom of it is sound. When Lord Melbourne was Prime Minister of England and deputations of reformers came to him favoring this or that bill, he was won't to ask them, "Why can't you let it alone?" A little judicious neglect will settle many things.

THE LAST ANALYSIS

'Tis seldom they mention the wealth of the dead.
Something finer of those who have gone must be said.
So to things of the spirit they turn for praise
And you'll find this engraved on the stone which they raise:
Here lies our beloved,
Kind, gentle and true,
His virtues were many,
His failings were few."

The living are measured by standards of gold;
'How much does he own?' we all like to be told.
We talk much of fortune and fawn on success.
We judge a man's worth by the style of his dress.

But never an epitaph
Graved into stone
Praises the dead
For his money alone.

Suppose what we say of the living were said
In eulogies, mournful in praise of the dead.
We should say, and the thought of such epitaphs shocks.
"Here lies a man who made millions in stocks!"

"Here lies a father
Gone heavenward we hope,
The richest man here
And he made it with soap!"

'Tis the things of the spirit which count above all.
It is what a man was that we like to recall.
We may struggle for money but finer by far
The treasures of service and friendliness are.

And to be a success
They must write at the end
"Here lies a gentle
Companion and friend."

When I make Hot Cross Buns, I like to make plenty of them. They are delicious cold the day after Good Friday. Then, too, they are nice to send to a neighbor who perhaps has been too busy to make them. Hot Cross Buns never go to waste! The following recipe makes four dozen. If it is too large halve it.

Scald four cups of sweet milk, then turn this into a large bowl, and one cup of granulated sugar, eight level tablespoons of butter and two teaspoons of salt and let cool to the luke-warm stage. Now add two cakes of compressed yeast which have been previously dissolved in one-half cup of luke-warm water, and stir in 12 cups of bread flour, and one-quarter teaspoon of ground cinnamon, four beaten eggs, and one-half cup of dried currants. Mix all well, then cover the bowl with a clean cloth and place in a warm spot to rise overnight.

In the morning at about six o'clock turn the raised dough out onto a floured board and pat it down with your hands to one-half inch in height. Take large biscuit cutter and cut discs from the dough, placing them on a greased pan one-half inch apart. Let the pans stand in a warm place for about 40 minutes, during which period the buns should rise almost to twice their bulk. Brush over the tops with a mixture of beaten raw egg and sugar, then make a cross on each bun with the dull, back edge of a knife-blade. Bake in a hot oven for 20 minutes and serve hot for breakfast.

Answer to "Young Bride": "Yes, the tile floor in your bathroom should be washed in warm soapsuds. Take care not to use too much water on the floor when rinsing. Rub dry with a thick cloth fastened firmly over a flat mop. Leave no water standing, as that will destroy the setting. As for the matting-covered room floor, sweep well when cleaning it, the last time with a bagged broom. Then wipe swiftly with salt water and rinse as quickly with fresh, having both waters tepid. If there is grime, use borax water instead of salt. Once a year wipe with sweet, slightly-tepid milk, followed by a tepid clear water rinsing; this milk wash keeps the straw pliant thus making the matting last longer.

Today's Talks

THE JOY OF THE SOMETHING

Life seems to be saturated in mystery. Every day brings us new questionings. And when we get particularly discouraged by our small lot of knowledge and understanding, we wonder what it's all about anyway.

Then we glance about us. We see the gorgeous colorings in lovely works of art. We get up from our seat and walk to the window. Spring is just opening its eyes and will soon be with us in all its glory of birth. Happiness pours forth from the throats of a score of birds and as we try to recall the names of our feathered friends in the concert, we wonder again about the strangeness and sweetness of human life, and all life. Where did all this color come from? Who planned the sunrise so that it might tread as softly into the new day as one would feel velvet under foot? Who taught the birds their wonderful songs? What makes them happy—for they surely must be?

What a gray, drab and colorless world this would be if we understood everything. I am glad that we are constantly questioning. For in everything there is that joy of the something whereby we are lifted up, stimulated and heartened, even though we do not understand.

It is enough to know that there is something very wonderful in life that urges us on, even though we have no idea of our destination.

We cannot even understand why we are so happy when we have made someone else happy. Yet we are. The joy of the something is everywhere.

The everchanging color of the sea holds a peculiar fascination for me. I do not know why. I love the hidden mystery of beauty and power that is so inseparable there. I never tire of it or of calling the attention of others to it. But I do not understand the sea.

There is this joy to be found almost anywhere—even in the silent, unexpressed thoughts of the one you love or of those who occasionally come in to your heart for a bit of laughter or understanding.

M'GRAW IS LEADER IN DEVELOPING NEW BASEBALL TALENT

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, April 8.—Back in the flush of his greatest success, namely, between the years of 1910 and 1914, Connie (Elongated) Mack was well and favorably known as a man who got them young and made them like it. While others bought their ready-made, the good Cornellius made a noise like a rubber heel and emerged from the debris behind the notion counter with a cut-price article that upon careful examination proved to be virgin wool to the base of its texture.

Eddie Collins, Jack Barry, Stuff Melnes, Frank Baker, Jack Coombs, Rube Oldring, Amos Strunk, Jack Lapp, Eddie Murphy, and others, were brought into the light of day by this economic, not to say surreptitious, procedure.

But times do change, and the mantle of the adolescent developer now is draped about the shoulders of another. Offhand, the writer would identify the latter as John Joseph McGraw, who in the last five years or so has brought such men as Kelly, Frisco, Jackson, Wilson, V. Barnes, Terry, Lindstrom, Bentley and Young before the public, without exterior aid. Only Bently among those mentioned was a costly experiment.

Bill McKechnie, of the Pirates, is another candidate; and, were he alive today, the late Pat Moran would be a third. Just before he died, Pat retrieved the falling fortunes of the Cincinnati Reds by introducing Pinelli, Caveney, Donahue, Bohne and Hargraves to the line-up and most of them now rank with the stars of the game.

McKechnie's contribution was the feature of the 1924 pennant race. First off, he brought Glenn Wright to Pittsburgh, and many regarded him as the best shortstop in the league. Custer and Wright, hitting sensations, then came along to carry the town by storm and forced such outfielders as Barnhart and Bigbee to the bench, while Emil Yde and Dan Kramer proved to be two of the best young pitchers of the year.

Pittsburgh also developed Traynor, Morrison, Gooch and several others, but they were more or less identified with the Gibson regime.

Mack, of course, has not been entirely unsuccessful in his efforts to duplicate his early triumphs, but it must be remembered that his rebuilding has been going on for more than ten years, and the structure is not completed yet. Rommel, Houser, Harris, Heimach, Lamary and Simmons are the most notable of Mack's captures, with the status of Gallo-Lefty Groves, Bishop and Hale still to be determined.

In fact, he has not been any more successful than Bill Killefer, who brought Kauffman, Keen, Hartnett, O'Farrell, Adams, Miller and Stutz to Chicago, nor Wilbert Robinson, who turned out Ehrhardt, Vance, Deberry, Brown, High, Mitchell and Taylor for Brooklyn during recent years.

In the American League, Connie could hardly be rated ahead of Cobb in this respect, since Ty has uncovered quite a valuable set of young men in Whitehill, Wells, Fothergill, Manush, Rigney, Haney and Blue, although the latter really was a product of Jennings' leadership.

Except for isolated instances notably Stanley Harris, with Bludge, McNeely and Marberry; Tris Speaker with Shaute, Edwards and Myatt; and Branch Rickey, with Bottomley, the rest of baseball has been more or less at parade rest in the matter of developing the young idea.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

"Indian Joe" Sioux Indian Black Hills, N. D., was very entertained students of Central High School, at the assembly Tuesday afternoon in Jean B. Elwell Auditorium.

He told the students of the real traits of the Indians, and said that a large percent of the reading material about Indians is wrong and gives the opposite impression. If an Indian is divorced, he can never marry again, "Indian Joe" declared. He described the Indian marriage ceremony the placing of a shawl by the man about his bride and the gift of land and horses and other valuables to the parents of the girl.

Indian babies are given the name of the first thing a mother looks upon after the child's birth, which causes such names as "Rain-in-the-Face," "Sitting Bull," "Red Feather," "Sunshine Eagle" and others. He told of the Indian war dances and other ceremonies and gave an exhibition of one dance carrying bells and a tom-tom.

"Indian Joe's" father is 100 years old and witnessed Custer's massacre. He exhibited Indian wampum and beaded work, deer skins, tomahawks, knives and other articles. He is a government representative, trying to raise funds to return to college after his war service. The pupils paid an admission fee of ten cents.

KNOW YOUR SCHOOLS PROGRAM DRAWS BIG AUDIENCE TUESDAY

The Thespian endeavors of the gradepupils of Spring Hill and Orient Hill Schools, in the first of the "Know Your Schools" programs, at the Jean B. Elwell Auditorium, Tuesday evening was witnessed by an audience of parents and patrons that filled the auditorium.

The program opened with a "Manner Drill" by the boys of the first, second and third grades of Spring Hill School, which was one of the cleverest acts on the program. The young boys were dressed in true minstrel style black-face frock coats, high hats and canes, and performed the drill with mirth-provoking antics.

The miniature minstrel-men were enthusiastically received by the audience.

The girls of grades one, two and three of Spring Hill School, took part in a parasol drill, dressed in dainty white frocks and carrying gay parasols. The children were well trained and the drill was prettily performed.

The Spring Hill School program closed with "Mother Nature's Picnic" by the pupils of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades. The prologue to the piece was given by Lois Spahr. The characters were: Bernice Bath, "Mother Nature"; Edwin Bath, "Weatherman"; Howard Thompson, "King Winter"; Irma Van Horn, "Queen Summer"; Geneva Black "Spring"; Frederick Clark, "Autumn"; Ralph Ennis, "Jack Frost"; Gerald Morgan, "Peter Crow"; Ruth Hubbard, "North Wind"; Ethel Cook East Wind; Helen Schweibold, "South Wind"; Eleanor White, "West Wind"; and Harold Schweibold and Paul McClellan, "Heralds."

The second part of the program was "A South Sea Holiday" an operetta, presented by the pupils of the Orient Hill School. The first scene was that of children playing "family." Alma Adams taking the part of "Molly"; Elizabeth Eavey, "Peggy"; Richard Ross, "Jack"; Marvin Yeager and Charles LeValley, "the twins"; Freda Spriggs, "Baby Grace."

The children were transported to the South Sea by "The Hawaiian girl Elberta Murray and the second scene was laid in that island. Lois McCoy took the part of the "Bamboo Fairy Queen" and other characters were Bamboo Fairies, "Brownies," "Butterflies," "Japanese boys," "Three Bears" and the Gingerbread men.

Pupils of McKinley School will take part in the program Tuesday evening, when grades one, two and three will present "Grandmother's Garden," and a fairyland fantasy. The second part of that evening's program will be "Midsummer Eve," a musical fairy play by the older pupils of McKinley.

Central first grade will give "The Old Fashioned Garden," Friday evening. Central Junior High School pupils will perform the latter part of that evening in "The Quest of Youth" a pagant.

PLAINTIFF COUNSEL IN DAMAGE CASE IS THROUGH WITNESSES

Attorneys for the plaintiff in the suit of Mildred Dickerson, former stenographer at Wilbur Wright Field, for $50,100 damages against the Village of Osborn and the Miami Conservancy District, on trial in Common Pleas Court, rested their case at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning with their list of witnesses exhausted.

Counsel for both sides argued before the court on a point of law during the remainder of the morning session.

First defense witnesses were called at the start of the afternoon session at 1:30 o'clock. Defense attorneys have subpoenaed fourteen witnesses, which made it appear doubtful that the case would be given to the jury Wednesday.

With the acquisition of Attorney Harry D. Smith, Xenia who has been retained as local counsel, the conservancy district is now represented by three attorneys.

Plaintiff's witnesses subpoenaed who testified Tuesday and Wednesday were as follows: William Cooper, H. R. Kendig, Mrs. O. Perry, J. A. Bishop, W. C. Jones, C. O. Perry, William Schneider, Mary Hain, William Long, Thomas Dickerson, Mrs. Nancy J. Dickerson, Mrs. Margaret Dickerson and Nathan D. Woodward.

The fourteen defense witnesses are as follows: C. J. Logsdon, J. H. Zeller, W. A. Schneider, H. R. Kendig, R. P. Emmick, George Miller, Frank Copenhefer, Bert Kendig, F. C. Massey, Everett E. Newkom, Dr. R. H. Grube, Dr. P. D. Espey, B. F. Thomas, County recorder and S. C. Wright, probate judge.

Mildred Dickerson, in her suit, alleges she received injuries four years ago in Osborn when she accidentally stepped into a hole in the sidewalk, which made her an invalid.

Ten men and two women compose the jury.

MODISH MITZI—No Correctness to the Geometric Prints! By JAY V. JAY

This is Mitzi's cousin who has come for a visit. Dottie is at the age when the biggest problems of life are all in the geometry book. She doesn't even admit that there is a clothes problem—it's so easily solved with a suspender skirt or a plaid jumper dress.

Dottie admires Mitzi immensely. Mitzi can do anything—even Dot's math. Anyway she ought to be able to, reasons Dot, if she has the nerve to wear a coat all squares and geometric designs. It's semi-fitted, has a double breasted effect, and is well tailored as to shoulder and neck.

"Another theorem bothering you, Dot?" lightly asks Mitzi. Bothering her! It's making her see double, it's mixing right angles with hypotenuses and Mitzi's dress is the last illustration. It is of a zigzag pattern which is painted on silk (quite the newest thing) but to Dot it looks like the fifth corner to a square.

Mitzi has offered to help. Dot thinks she may be able to figure it out on Mitzi's back. Poor Dot might just as well get used to the geometric designs in materials because they have come for the season. You see squares, rectangles, parallelograms and triangles printed on handsome silks with absolutely no mathematical accuracy!

THE GUMPS—BE IT RESOLVED, ETC.

REDS WON'T FINISH BETTER THIS YEAR THAN LAST SAYS VETERAN BALL PLAYER IN XENIA

"The Reds won't finish any better this year than they did last season." This is the opinion of "Rube" Merchant, Xenia, former professional baseball player, who is now third trick roundhouse foreman of the Pennsylvania Railroad here.

Merchant played with the old Dayton Vets when that team was an important cog in the old Central League which faltered to its death several years ago after a fairly prosperous career.

Merchant was with both Dayton and Springfield when Elmer Redelle had the franchise, and was with the Vets under the management of Jonny Nee and during the days when Nee was playing second base. Earl Sykes was at first Jack Rowan was on the pitching list along with Cy Pi and others and "Deerfoot" Spencer was one of the outfielders.

In fact Merchant was in the loop when Spencer met his death in a railroad wreck in which the train the club members were riding on, was wrecked. At the time Merchant was pitching Central League baseball Eddie Roush, now captain and fielder for the Cincinnati Reds, "Bubbles" Hargrave, veteran Red catcher and Jimmy Caveney, erratic Red shortstop, were all with teams in the Central loop.

"Rube" was transferred here from Cincinnati where he had been umpiring in the K. I. O. League since overweighing forced out of the active pastime. While at Cincinnati he kept in touch with Roush, Hargrave Caveney and other Red athletes he knows and his acquaintance has made him well informed on the strength and weakness of the club.

The fact that a lot of flowers that bloom in the spring turn out to be dandelions in July, is one reason why the former pitcher is not sold on the Reds chances. "This Zitsma" may be hitting the old apple in fine form down South but he'll be lucky if his batting form doesn't take a sudden change when he starts looking at big time pitching", is the way Merchant puts it.

"A lot of rookies trying to break into big time extend themselves in the training camps", he says. "The old timers, on the other hand, copy serve their talents for the championship games ahead. Thus the rookie at his best shows up strong against the veterans taking it easy. When the season starts there'll be a lot of youngsters left at the pole."

Merchant also fails to get excited about "Rube" Bressler's playing of first base, although he admits the "Rube" can clot the old pill with alarming regularity. George Harpen the Red utility outfielder released to Philadelphia last year, was also a favorite of Merchant, who believes he could still serve the Reds well.

With Fonseca however recently released Merchant has a different outlook. Admitting the warbling infielder could hit with the best of them. Merchant says he was an extremely awkward infielder, which cuts down his efficiency and forth to the club.

Merchant played a number of different leagues during his pitching career and later pitched semi-pro baseball in Dayton. He hopes to land a berth on the umpire staff of the new South Central Ohio League of which Dean Richmond, London, is president and Raymond B. Howard, London newspaper man, is secretary and treasurer.

MAY PLACE DOROTHY ELLINGSON ON STAND IN SANITY HEARING

Girl Matricide Guarded After Attack On Her — Own Attorneys

San Francisco, Calif., April 8.—A sensational eleventh hour effort to place Dorothy Ellingson, 17, year old matricide, on the witness stand to testify concerning her own sanity loomed as a possibility as the hearing neared an end today.

That the youthful "jazz baby" was cognizant of such secret plans was revealed in her hysterical outburst in the midst of her sanity trial late yesterday when, after hurling water upon her own counsel, she exclaimed: "Wait till I get on the stand. I'll tell the truth about those matters."

As the trial resumed today, Dorothy was seated between two police matrons to prevent any further attacks upon her counsel. In some quarters it was believed the outbreak of the girl—the first violent manifestation that has occurred before the jury—would cause abandonment of the state's plan to get her upon the stand.

It was pointed out if the girl could not stand the strain of hearing other witnesses she might create a scene upon the stand as would defeat the purpose of the state in placing her there.

There was a possibility that the case might reach the jury by nightfall. The state had virtually completed its case with adjournment last night. The defense will call no rebuttal witnesses unless something unexpected develops today. An agreement will limit argument on each side to three hours.

Together with the thrilling spectacle of Dorothy acting upon an "irresistible impulse" the jury will have before it the unusual testimony of Dr. Joseph Catton, state alienist.

On the witness stand this witness told the jury Dorothy had "a darn nice family history compared to some cases."

In explaining that he found her definitely sane the doctor used such terms as "goofy," "nuts," "cracked," and "out of the head," which he said was common parlance for insanity and none of which applied to the defendant. The jury heard him pass the lie direct to defense counsel. He declared Dorothy was definitely and absolutely sane and that he had never found any ear marks of insanity in her.

Dr. Edward F. Twitchell, another state alienist, had labelled the girl as a "moral defective." He said she is not normal; that she is calloused in her ethical duties and "has a blunted, obtuse moral side." He maintained, however, that she is sane.

EASTER BUNNY SAD—EGGS AT TOP PRICE

The Easter bunny looks rather sad these days. He's probably mourning over the comparison between the price of eggs during the Easter season this year and last.

Eggs were on the market last Easter for seventeen cents per dozen and this year the charge has jumped to twenty-five cents or thereabouts.

Eggs this year at some markets have reached the peak of thirty-three cents a dozen. The increased demand for eggs by hatcheries has boomed the cost, it is said.

Hen fruit this year is a scarce article at best, dealers say, and the exorbitant cost must be paid to obtain the eggs.

SYMPATHY COSTLY DECLARES VICTIM

Lorain, O., April 8.—Paul Konienzy is through with the sympathy racket and tears will hereafter find his heart a stone. Too much sympathy today cost him $1000.

A weeping stranger and a companion offered Konienzy half of the insurance of a dead brother if he would aid in securing a passport. As a guarantee of good faith, Konienzy put up $1,000.

"That's the last I saw of either the money or the men," he explained to police.

RELIEF SENT TO FIRE STRICKEN VILLAGE

Marquette, Mich., April 8.—A relief expedition was sent to the village of Chatham, 35 miles southeast of Marquette today with food and clothing for the 200 residents of that village whom a fire sweeping the village, left homeless. Only four buildings out of more than 30 remained standing.

Two boys, playing with matches, are believed to have started the blaze. No one was hurt.

The village had no fire fighting equipment.

Residents spent last night huddled in the railway depot and its sheds.

DONAHEY SENDS SECRETARY WITH SON TO CLEAR ZANESVILLE MYSTERY

Governor Aroused Over Charges Hal Knows Something Of Disappearance of Girl—Ire Aroused Over Newspaper Reports.

Columbus, April 8.—Announcement that young Hal Donahey, son of Governor Vic Donahey, confessed having brought to Columbus fifteen-year-old Lillian Vogel, from Zanesville, last Sunday night was made at the Governor's office this afternoon. Lillian is understood to be here with persons said to be relatives. On behalf of Governor Donahey, his secretary, Jake Meckstroth, informed the chief of police and prosecutor at Zanesville. Governor Donahey has announced he will co-operate in every way possible in seeing justice done.

Columbus, April 8.—James W. Huffman, executive clerk to Governor Donahey, accompanied by young Hal Donahey, a son of the Governor, will leave early this afternoon for Zanesville to investigate the sensational allegations linking Hal's name with the reported disappearance of Lillian Vogel, 15, from Zanesville, last Sunday night.

Huffman was ordered to Zanesville after the governor. Huffman and Jacob M. Meckstroth, secretary to the governor, had grilled Hal for more than half an hour on additional reports of the youth's recent activities in Zanesville.

Columbus, April 8.—Governor Donahey's wrath boiled over today as a result of the publicity which has been given to Hal Donahey's alleged connection with the reported disappearance of Lillian Vogel, 15 year old Zanesville girl.

"I think it is a crime that an innocent family has to suffer when Hal is absolutely innocent of any connection with this girl's disappearance," the governor declared when he appeared at his office after working half the night signing bills.

"It's a shame the way the newspapers are 'playing' this story. If they keep it up and put Mrs. Donahey on her back, I'll get after them," the governor added.

Hal, the governor's son, whose motor ride last Sunday night to Zanesville got him all the unpleasant publicity, accompanied his father to the executive offices. Attempts by newspaper men to influence the governor to send Hal with them to Zanesville to clear up the mystery thus far has been unavailing.

Several Jews Hurt While Others Join With Arabs In Galilee To Welcome British Lord

Jerusalem, April 8.—While Jews and Arabs of Galilee were joining in welcome to Lord Balfour, Great Britain's foremost advocate of Jewish colonization in Palestine, Arab feeling flared up at Nablos, Syria, in an attack on the Jews. Several Jews were injured.

It was the first outbreak since Lord Balfour's arrival despite the strike by Arabs the day he reached Jerusalem. Jewish farmers of Roshina, Galilee, adopting the custom of their Arab neighbors killed a sheep for the feast in honor of Lord Balfour, it was learned today.

The visiting dignitary, acknowledging the greetings of the oldest settler of the district, scored those who turned a microscopic eye toward happenings in Palestine, overlooking the great beneficial effects of the Zionist policy which has inaugurated an era of material prosperity and "spiritual harmony."

A mounted Arab escort, representing the whole district, joined Jewish horsemen in meeting and escorting Lord Balfour's party to the colony, where services were held in the synagogue.

The oldest sheik welcomed Balfour from the pulpit, assuring the distinguished Christian that Moslems and Jews had lived in the district harmoniously for thirty-five years.

LIVESTOCK BURNED TO DEATH WHEN FIRE DESTROYS BARN; HOUSE BURNS

Six Horses And Five Cows Die In Barn Fire At R. G. McKay Farm—Joe Sutton House Near Goes Burns To Ground With Part Of Contents Tuesday

Fire destroyed a barn on the farm of R. B. McKay, Wilmington and Xenia Pike, nine miles from Xenia, between 7 and 8 o'clock Tuesday night, with its contents including six horses and five cows, entailing loss estimated at more than $3,000.

Origin of the blaze has not been determined and the possibility that electric wires from the home lighting system were defective is the only theory advanced regarding source of the fire.

Mr. McKay had been milking in the barn twenty minutes before the fire was discovered from the house. At that time the barn was full of flames and efforts of volunteers summoned were unavailing in the attempt to save the structure. The fire had gained such headway that it was impossible to reach the cattle stanchions or the stalls where the horses were kept. One horse, badly burned, managed to break loose and escape, and is still living.

Besides the livestock, all other contents, including a quantity of hay, farm implements and all the harness, were destroyed. The barn was a large, frame structure of the bank-barn type. A corn crib, hen house and smaller barn in the vicinity were not burned and the house some distance away was not endangered, because there was no wind to carry the sparks.

Although volunteers were helpless to save the building, the Wilmington Fire Department responded to a call and stood ready to assist in saving other buildings. By the time the firemen had made the nine mile run, the structure was beyond saving. The loss is partially covered by insurance, including partial coverage on the livestock.

HOUSE DESTROYED
A two-story frame house on the farm owned by Joseph Sutton, west of Goes Station and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Randall, was entirely destroyed by fire from unknown origin, Tuesday morning.

The fire was discovered about 10:30 o'clock, the entire roof ablaze, and before farmers could reach the scene, the structure was beyond saving. Mr. and Mrs. Randall managed to save part of their furniture, since there was no wiring in the house the cause of the fire is a mystery, and it is not known whether it started on the outside of the roof or in the attic.

Mr. Sutton was working in the woods near the house at the time the fire was discovered and a bell at the farm was rung to attract his attention. He thought it was a dinner bell and did not come to the scene until the house was totally destroyed. A woodhouse and a smokehouse nearby caught fire from the house but were saved.

The house was only partially insured and to replace the farm home would take between $5,000 and $6,000, it was said.

VON HINDENBURG TO SEEK PRESIDENCY FOR REACTIONARIES

Aged War Veteran Accepts The Nomination—Influenced By Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm

Berlin, April 8.—The reichsbanner, comprising the Nationalist parties and the reactionary element today succeeded in persuading Field Marshal Erich Von Hindenburg, the 77 year old veteran, to accept the presidential nomination.

Von Hindenburg's acceptance was announced following a conference between the veteran general and Admiral Von Tirpitz, at Hanover. The monarchistic forces had persuaded Germany's "grand old man of the sea" to prevail upon the "grand old man of the army" to take the step it was believed would bring victory to the Nationalists.

It was only with an effort that Von Hindenburg was persuaded to enter the race. His refusal was first reported, then his reconsideration then again his definite refusal. Even today, before his acceptance, of the candidacy, he was reported to have told Von Tirpitz:

"I am too old to accept such a difficult and responsible post."

Von Hindenburg will oppose Wilhelm Marx, former chancellor and candidate of the Republican coalition. The delay of the nationalist bloc, to secure a candidate for the second presidential election April 26, elated the Republicans who were convinced by it that Marx will be victor in the run off election.

Hanover, Germany, April 8.—It was a private message from the former Kaiser, Wilhelm, that it was the only way to save the nation, which influenced Field Marshal Von Hindenburg to reconsider his decision and decide to become a candidate for the presidency April 26. It was said here today.

Added to this was said to be the insistent argument of Admiral Von Tirpitz that Hindenburg was the "only man able to defeat Marx," the Republican.

The great question here following Hindenburg's decision to seek the presidency was whether Ludendorff will support him or announce his own candidacy.

WIDOW OF CAPTAIN GLEN RAYBURN TO GET $6,500 AWARD

Mrs. J. Glenn Rayburn, widow of Captain Glenn Rayburn of the fire department, who died January 26 following an injury sustained while fighting a box car blaze on the Pennsylvania Railroad, has been allowed an award of $6,500 by the State Industrial Commission, Department of Claims, according to information received by City Manager S. O. Hale.

The compensation covers funeral expenses, medical and hospital expenses and is made in the form of weekly payments beginning January 26.

All awards to employees of the cities in the state are based on their salaries, and it is understood that this award is the maximum amount that could be allowed on the claim based on the former Captain's salary.

The Industrial Commission passed on the claim March 27.

GIRL SENTENCED TO INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL FOR SHOPLIFTING

Grace McFadden, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McFadden, North King Street, was sentenced to the Girls' Industrial School at Delaware, in Dayton Juvenile Court, Tuesday morning. The girl will be taken to the institution this week to serve an indeterminate sentence.

The girl has been held by Dayton Juvenile Court authorities in the Detention House in that city, after she and her aunt, Mrs. John Fudge, this city, were found shoplifting in a Dayton store a few weeks ago.

Mrs. Fudge was charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor and was let out on bond, furnished by a Dayton attorney. She disappeared the day after the hearing and has never been located.

The girl was sentenced to the Industrial Home on the shoplifting charge, by Judge Roland W. Baggett. She was represented in Xenia by Attorney F. L. Johnson of Xenia.

LONDON PRISON FARM IS SEPARATE INSTITUTION UNDER BILL SIGNED

Orient Feeble Minded Institution Also Made Separate—Governor Signs Marshall Realty Transfer Bill.

Columbus, O., April 8.—The new cottage colony at Orient for the treatment of feeble minded and the London prison farm are made separate institutions under terms of the bill of Mrs. Nettie B. Clapp, Cuyahoga, which was signed today by Governor Donahey.

Directing heads for the new institutions will be appointed by John E. Harper, state welfare director, as soon as the act becomes law, after being filed the required 90 days with the secretary of state. The Orient colony is now a branch of the state institution for feeble minded at Columbus. The prison farm is a branch of the Ohio State penitentiary, Columbus.

When the London farm becomes a separate institution, it was explained, prisoners will still be sentenced to the state penitentiary by the courts. Prisoners for transfer from the penitentiary to the prison farm will be selected by Warden Thomas, of the penitentiary on recommendation of the state board of clemency.

Among the other bills signed are: The bill of Mrs. Viola D. Romans, Franklin County, authorizing the establishment of educational and vocational training courses at the state reformatory for women, Marysville.

The bill of Senator E. Le Fever, Athens, permitting lease of state institution lands for oil and gas development.

The Vorys bill, raising from $3.50 to $5.50 a week, the amount which a family may pay for the support of a patient in a state institution.

WILLIS SPEAKS ON WORLD COURT

Washington April 8.—American entry to the world court can be accomplished only if peace organizations abandon all efforts to carry the United States in either the league of nations or the Geneva security protocol, Senator Frank B. Willis, Republican of Ohio, declared yesterday in replying to a query from the American peace award, a pro-league organization. Willis announced his intention to fight for early decision by the senate on the world court issue next fall.

He declared favorable action however, would be conditioned on elimination of all advisory opinions by the court and cessation of all other international propaganda.

"If a way could be found," Willis added, "to entirely separate the world court from the league of nations, without interfering with its functions, I should be glad."

"I am entirely opposed to our country entering the league of nations, directly or indirectly, but I am very much in favor of adherence to the permanent court on these conditions."

ATTEMPT TO OUST CHIEF DEFEATED

Columbus, April 8.—Motion of Mayor Sumner McClain, of Troy, for a review of decision of the Miami County appellate court upholding John Haritz, former Troy police chief, in his fight against removal, was overruled today by the state supreme court.

Shantz was removed on charges. The municipal civil service commission sustained charges of failure to capture a person suspected of larceny, and of illiteracy and incompetency. The common pleas court refused to overrule the commission's action but judgment was reversed by the appellate court.

DAIRYING PROFITABLE

Barnesville, April 8.—Dairying is one of the best forms of farming because the producer receives better than 75 per cent of the consumer's dollar, declared Louis J. Taber, Barnesville, master of the National Grange. Taber said the truth of his statement may readily be realized by comparing this percentage with that received from wheat. He declared the average of the consumer's dollar received by the wheat producer is 20 cents.

MANY MID-WEST FARMERS MULCTED IN SOUTH AMERICAN LAND GRAFTS

Department Of Commerce Launches Investigation Of Land Frauds—Farmers Said To Have Sold Farms To Invest In Foreign Agricultural Lands

Washington, April 8.—Hundreds of Americans, mostly farmers in the agriculture regions of the Middle West, have lost large sums, in some cases their entire fortunes, in South American land ventures, officials of the department of commerce said today.

An exhaustive investigation into operations of the fraudulent land companies has been conducted and the facts unearthed will shortly be placed before the department of justice and the postoffice department, with a view to prosecution.

During the recent economic depression in the Middle and Southwest, a number of individuals and organizations are said to have done an extensive business in the sale of South American land.

Promises of land of great fertility was the lure which caused hundreds of farmers to "sell out" and invest in the foreign agricultural lands.

The department issued a warning to the public against the investment in projects of this character without a thorough personal investigation of the land on sale. Farmers who are approached with propositions for emigration to other countries, were advised to get in touch with the state department or the department of commerce where divisions are maintained to furnish information on the projects.

The department of commerce has records of a number of colonization schemes which swallowed up the fortunes of farmers. Details of the failure of the most recent colonization scheme, discussed with the state department by Frederick J. Stimson, former ambassador to Argentina, have not yet been communicated to Secretary Hoover but they are almost identical with other colonization projects.

Diplomatic representatives of several South American powers have agreed to cooperate with the government to determine the value of the various projects offered to farmers. Most of the land offered for sale in South America is said to be removed from railroads or other means of contact with civilization and some of it has proven nothing more than desert land.

Washington April 8.—American entry to the world court can be accomplished only if peace organizations abandon all efforts to carry the United States in either the league of nations or the Geneva security protocol, Senator Frank B. Willis, Republican of Ohio, declared yesterday in replying to a query from the American peace award, a pro-league organization. Willis announced his intention to fight for early decision by the senate on the world court issue next fall.

He declared favorable action however, would be conditioned on elimination of all advisory opinions by the court and cessation of all other international propaganda.

"If a way could be found," Willis added, "to entirely separate the world court from the league of nations, without interfering with its functions, I should be glad."

"I am entirely opposed to our country entering the league of nations, directly or indirectly, but I am very much in favor of adherence to the permanent court on these conditions."

Mrs. J. O. Hale.

The compensation covers funeral expenses, medical and hospital expenses and is made in the form of weekly payments beginning January 26.

FAMILIES HOMELESS FOLLOWING NIGHT OF TERROR FROM FLAMES

Three States Swept By Fires—Flames Now Under Control

Boston, April 8.—Homeless families and destroyed property worth several million dollars were revealed by the Sun today after forest fires had created a night of terror in a score or more towns in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New Hampshire.

Tired volunteer fire fighters reported, however, that all the fires had either burned themselves out or were under control today.

A summary of the forest fire damage follows:

Rhode Island: Five homes destroyed. Many animals, horses, pigs, goats and dogs, were burned to death. Villages of Crompton, Anthony and Washington hemmed in at one time by walls of fire. The villages were saved by back fires.

New Hampshire: Forest fire, with three mile front destroyed three homes in Deerfield, igniting 19 houses at one time and burned over 3,000,000 feet of timber. Citizens of Boscawren battled all night with the forest fire which burned one home and destroyed 50 acres of timber. Summer colony at Ashland, threatened with destruction with fire-swept outlying sections.

Massachusetts: Two thousand acres of timber burned in Marlborough and a hundred homes menaced.

Eight hundred acres burned over in the Prospect Hill district of Whitinsville. Seventy five thousand pine trees destroyed by fire in South Bridge. Scores of autoists had narrow escapes in fleeing from the onrushing flames. Many daring rescues were recorded during the night.

In the Rocky Hill section of West Warwick, R. I. a woman was trapped in her home by fire on all sides. A volunteer fireman in an automobile rode through the wall of flames and rescued her from certain death.

JEW TO CELEBRATE FEAST OF PASSOVER

Wednesday evening, April 8, ushers in the Feast of the Passover, which will be observed by the Jewish people the world over.

According to the religious rules the festival is to last seven days, only the first and seventh to be kept "holy" by total abstinence from labor. Orthodox Jews, however, observe the festival for eight days, the first two days and the last two days being considered "holy."

In ancient times, when the Israelites in Palestine engaged primarily in farming, Passover possessed an agricultural significance marking the beginning of the harvest season. Since post-exilic days, however, the festival has largely lost its agricultural meaning and it is observed primarily in commemoration of the great event in Israel's history, when it was freed from the shackles of Egyptian bondage and emerged as a free people taking its place among the builders of human civilization. If Jewish history is to be compared with American history, Passover may well be designated as the Jewish Independence Day.

Know Your State

OHIO Center of The Rubber Industry

The automobile tire today is regarded all over the country almost as suggestive of Ohio as the buckeye.

More than half of the tires and tubes used in the United States are manufactured in Ohio. Not only in these products is the state dominant, but of all the rubber articles on the market, more than half of those sold in the United States and more than one-third of what the entire world requires comes from its factories.

Although the industry is centered in Akron, rubber factories of considerable size are located in other cities and are making them important centers.

It may be truly said that rubber goods carry the name of Ohio to every nook and corner of the globe.

The telephone has played its part in the development of this industry as in all others, and that it may be ready at all times to meet the demands for more extensive service as Ohio industry expands and the population increases. The Ohio Bell Telephone Company will spend $71,000,000 in the next five years in betterments and extensions.

The public is always welcome to visit any Bell exchange, to see how the calls are handled, and have all operating details explained by employees.

MARSHAL SCHNEIDER RAISES QUESTION ON CONCEALED WEAPONS; RULING REFUSED

If it is unlawful to carry a weapon concealed on or about the person, it should be unlawful to carry arms concealed in the pocket of an automobile, according to Marshal W. A. Schneider, Osborn, who wrote Attorney General C. C. Crabbe, Columbus for a ruling on the concealed weapons law last week.

Marshal Schneider asked for the ruling after two men arrested near Osborn with several weapons and ammunition in their automobile were released from custody and the case against them dismissed on a rehearing in Probate Court.

The charge was dismissed on a strict interpretation of the law which says it is only actionable to carry weapons concealed "on or about your person." Evidence in the case disposed of shows that the weapons confiscated by Osborn officials were taken from the automobile in which the men were found sleeping along the pike. The quantity of firearms indicated to village officials that the men had sinister intent which was emphasized by the fact that license plates of their automobile were also off and concealed within the car.

Attorney General Crabbe refused

LEMONS BLEACH THE SKIN WHITE

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quart pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this is a sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also a freckle sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

to give a ruling in the answer Marshal Schneider received to his letter of request. The answer reads:

"This will acknowledge receipt of your letter of April 3rd concerning the law in regard to concealed weapons.

"In reply to same, it is respectfully suggested that the Attorney General cannot render opinions to municipal officers. Your municipal attorney is your legal adviser and it would not be proper for the Attorney General to assume his duties.

"For your information, you are referred to sections 12,819 and 12,693 of the General Code.

There is a bill before the legislature now concerning the carrying of weapons in cars, but I believe it only covers liquor cases."

Section 12819 of the General Code follows: "Whoever carries a pistol, bowie knife, dirk or other dangerous weapons concealed on or about his person shall be fined not to exceed $500 or imprisoned in the County Jail or Work House not less than thirty days nor more than six months, or imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than one year nor more than three years. Provided however, that this act shall not affect the right of sheriffs, regularly appointed police officers, of incorporated cities and villages, regularly elected constables and special officers, to go armed when on duty. Provided further that it shall be lawful for deputy sheriffs and specially appointed police officers, except as are appointed or called in to serve by virtue of authority of sections 12,819 and 12,693, to go armed, if they first give bond to the state of Ohio, to be approved by Court of Common Pleas in the sum of $1,000 conditions to save the public harm, less by reason of any unlawful use of such weapons carried by them and any may have recourse on said bond."

In reference to the suggestion of the Attorney General that a bill now pending would make it unlawful to carry weapons concealed in an automobile only in liquor cases, Marshal Schneider suggests that the bill be amended to refer to all cases of weapons concealed in an automobile.

The officers points out that bandits planning to perpetrate a crime are immune to punishment or arrest if their weapons are arried in their automobiles instead of "on or about their person", even though the violation of officers should result in their apprehension before the intended crime could be committed. He points out that because of this in effectual law the good work of the officers would thus go for naught.

Although Greene County has reached and exceeded its allotted quota of applicants for the thirty days training period at Camp Knox, Ky., which begins June 1, additional young men are seeking admittance as alternates.

The latest Greene County candidate is Louis M. Campbell Xenia. West Virginia is leading all states with 85 per cent of its assigned quota enrolled. Ohio and Indiana are bringing up the rear with less than 40 per cent of their allotment.

The program of the day will be divided into professional, finance and legislation, physical and social activities, instruction and miscellaneous. A feature of the session Friday will be a banquet when non-de-vitaminized food will be served the educators. The menu will include wheat products in which vitamins have been destroyed, including whole wheat bread, chicken, whole-wheat mush and milk, and other articles of diet.

The menu will be prepared by the Domestic Science Department of Steele High School.

ONE LITTLE LETTER CHANGES MEANING

Dropping of the wrong letter in the Linotype line in a correction line in an advertisement in this paper recently, caused the advertisement to say just the reverse of what was intended.

The ad should have read: "It is not our aim to lead you into our store * * * and then sell you cheap products put up in our label, as we have none." Instead the last phrase read, "as we have done." The mistake was a typographical error after the ad had been proof-read, a liability to which all newspapers are subject.

FRAUDULENT SECURITIES

A CONFERENCE to standardize the Blue-Sky laws of various states is heartily favored by investment bankers. The fact that a bond is listed on the New York Stock Exchange is accepted in all states with the exception of a very few as conformity with the requirements for local distribution. Such confidence in Wall street comes as a surprise. Fraudulent securities are hawked to an eagerly buying and gullible public. Sound investments carrying six, eight and even ten percent seem to have little attraction for the big percentage of buyers but just show them some figures, carefully compiled by a master mind, which will "guarantee" a return of from twenty to thirty-five percent and there is a rush to get in on the ground floor—but few there are who come out on top. Then there is a hue and a cry about "fraud" and "misrepresentation," the victims all unmindful that such dividends are generally, in fact almost unanimously, illegitimate if procured and that they themselves are the ones upon whom the blame for losses should rest.

So somehow bootleggers of one kind or another seem to make liquid assets, as well as liquid poisons, flow up hill over legal obstacles and the legitimate investment bankers feel called upon to recommend such action as will seek to protect these poor fish from themselves. To accomplish this end it is apparent that the forces of state, interstate and government control must operate in harmony. That was the thought in President Coolidge's comment on a recent grand jury finding in Philadelphia with regard to prohibition enforcement. Perhaps it is also the solution of protecting the average man's wealth no less than his health.

THE RISE OF WOMAN

NEITHER is America or England the only country in which women are making places for themselves in the lawmaking bodies of their nation. In the German Reichstag there are thirty-three women members out of the total of four hundred and ninety-three. Johanna Reitze is one of these. She was at one time a servant girl but now she is a lawmaker. Another is Elfriede Rynek who was a dressmaker. And why not? Who knows better what is the matter with the country than those who have been cast among "the other half"? Several other women members were school teachers. That's fine. School teachers do not get what they are justly entitled to in our so-called civilization so let them go to congress and do something about it if they can.

It will probably be a long time before there are thirty-three women in the congress of the United States. There are plenty of women in politics, or say that they are, but few of them are in earnest as the most of them have simply lined up with the old parties in order to get in and are either looking for glory and publicity or for a new thrill in the way of amusement.

"CONSTANT MONKEYING"

THAT the farmer needs an equal opportunity with other business men, not a "constant monkeying" on the part of the government, as expressed by Secretary of Agriculture Jardine, strikes a responsive chord in most of his fellow agriculturists. "Constant monkeying" is one of our chief legislative faults and the new head of the "farm department" does the farmer a service by protesting against it.

"The least governed nation is the best governed" is a maxim in which there may be some exaggeration but the idea at the bottom of it is sound. When Lord Melbourne was Prime Minister of England and deputations of reformers came to him favoring this or that bill, he was won't to ask them, "Why can't you let it alone?" A little judicious neglect will settle many things.

THE LAST ANALYSIS

'Tis seldom they mention the wealth of the dead.
Something finer of those who have gone must be said.
So to things of the spirit they turn for praise

And you'll find this engraved on the stone which they raise:
Here lies our beloved,
Kind, gentle and true,
His virtues were many,
His failings were few."

The living are measured by standards of gold;
'How much does he own?' we all like to be told.
We talk much of fortune and fawn on success.
We judge a man's worth by the style of his dress.

But never an epitaph
Graved into stone
Praises the dead
For his money alone.

Suppose what we say of the living were said
In eulogies, mournful in praise of the dead.
We should say, and the thought of such epitaphs shocks.
'Here lies a man who made millions in stocks!'

"Here lies a father
Gone heavenward we hope.
The richest man here
And he made it with soap!"

'Tis the things of the spirit which count above all.
It is what a man was that we like to recall.
We may struggle for money but finer by far
The treasures of service and friendliness are.

And to be a success
They must write at the end
"Here lies a gentle
Companion and friend."

When I make Hot Cross Buns, I like to make plenty of them. They are delicious cold the day after Good Friday. Then, too, they are nice to send to a neighbor who perhaps has been too busy to make them. Hot Cross Buns never go to waste! The following recipe makes four dozen. If it is too large halve it.

Scald four cups of sweet milk, then turn this into a large bowl, and add a cup of granulated sugar, eight level tablespoons of butter and two teaspoons of salt and let cool to the luke-warm stage. Now add two cakes of compressed yeast which have been previously dissolved in one-half cup of luke-warm water, and stir in 12 cups of bread flour, two and one-quarter teaspoons of ground cinnamon, four beaten eggs, and one-half cup of dried currants. Mix all well, then cover the bowl with a clean cloth and place in a warm spot to rise overnight.

In the morning at about six o'clock turn the raised dough out onto a floured board and pat it down with your hands to one-half inch in height. Take large biscuit cutter and cut discs from the dough, placing them on a greased pan one-half inch apart. Let the pans stand in a warm place for about 40 minutes, during which period the buns should rise almost to twice their bulk. Brush over the tops with a mixture of beaten raw egg and sugar, then make a cross on each bun with the dull, back edge of a knife-blade. Bake in a hot oven for 20 minutes and serve hot for breakfast.

As for the matting-covered room floor, sweep well when cleaning it, the last time with a bagged broom. Then wipe swiftly with salt water and rinse as quickly with fresh, having both waters tepid. If there is grime, use borax water instead of salt. Once a year wipe with sweet, slightly-tepid milk, followed by a tepid clear water rinsing; this milk wash keeps the straw pliant thus making the matting last longer.

THE JOY OF THE SOMETHING

Life seems to be saturated in mystery. Every day brings us new questionings. And when we get particularly discouraged with our small lot of knowledge and understanding, we wonder what it's all about anyway.

Then we glance about us. We see the gorgeous colorings in lovely works of art. We get up from our seat and walk to the window. Spring is just opening its eyes and will soon be with us in all its glory of birth. Happiness pours forth from the throats of a score of birds and as we try to recall the names of our feathered friends in the concert, we wonder again about the strangeness and sweetness of human life, and all life.

Where did all this color come from? Who planned the sunrise so that it might tread as softly into the new day as one would feel velvet under foot? Who taught the birds their wonderful songs? What makes them happy—for they surely must be?

What a gray, drab and colorless world this would be if we understood everything. I am glad that we are constantly questioning. For in everything there is that joy of the something whereby we are lifted up, stimulated and heartened, even though we do not understand.

It is enough to know that there is something very wonderful in life that urges us on, even though we have no idea of our destination.

We cannot even understand why we are so happy when we have made someone else happy. Yet we are. The joy of the something is everywhere. The everchanging color of the sea holds a peculiar fascination for me. I do not know why. I love the hidden mystery of beauty and power that is so inseparable there. I never tire of it or of calling the attention of others to it. But I do not understand the sea.

There is this joy to be found almost anywhere—even in the silent, unexpressed thoughts of the one you love or of those who occasionally come in to your heart for a bit of laughter or understanding.

M'GRAW IS LEADER IN DEVELOPING NEW BASEBALL TALENT

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, April 8.—Back in the flush of his greatest success, namely, between the years of 1910 and 1914, Connie (Elonized) Mack was well and favorably known as a man who got them young and made them like it. While others bought their ready-made, the good Connie Mack made a noise like a rubber heel and emerged from the debris behind the notion counter with a cupric article that upon careful examination proved to be virgin wool to the base of its texture.

Eddie Collins, Jack Barry, Stuff McInnes, Frank Baker, Jack Coombs, Rube Oldring, Amos Strunk, Jack Lapp, Eddie Murphy, and others, were brought into the light of day by this economic, not to say surreptitious, procedure.

But times do change, and the mantle of the adolescent developer now is draped about the shoulders of another. Offhand, the writer would identify the latter as John Joseph McGraw, who in the last five years or so has brought such men as Kelly, Frisch, Jackson, Wilson, V. Barnes, Terry, Lindstrom, Bentley and Young before the public, without exterior aid. Only Bentley among those mentioned was a costly experiment.

Bill McKeechie, of the Pirates, is another candidate; and, were he alive today, the late Pat Moran would be a third. Just before he died, Pat retrieved the failing fortunes of the Cincinnati Reds by introducing Pincelli, Cavener, Donahue, Bohne and Hargraves to the line-up and most of them now rank with the stars of the game.

McKeechie's contribution was the feature of the 1924 pennant race. First off, he brought Glenn Wright to Pittsburgh, and many regarded him as the best shortstop in the league; Cuyler and Wright, hitting sensations, then came along to carry the town by storm and forced such outfielders as Barnhart and Bigbee to the bench, while Emil Yde and Dan Kramer proved to be two of the best young pitchers of the year.

Pittsburgh also developed Traynor, Morrison, Gooch and several others, but they were more or less identified with the Gibson regime.

Mack, of course, has not been entirely unsuccessful in his efforts to duplicate his early triumphs, but it must be remembered that his rebuilding has been going on for more than ten years, and the structure is not completed yet. Rommel, Houser, Harris, Heimach, Lamar and Slimmons are the most notable of Mack's captures, with the status of Galloway, Lefty Groves, Bishop and Hale still to be determined.

In fact, he has not been any more successful than Bill Killefer, who brought Kauffman, Keen, Hartnett, O'Farrell, Adams, Miller and Stutz to Chicago, nor Wilbert Robinson, who turned out Ehrhardt, Vance, Deberry, Brown, High, Mitchell and Taylor for Brooklyn during recent years.

In the American League, Connie could hardly be rated ahead of Cobb in this respect, since Ty has uncovered quite a valuable set of young men in Whitehill, Wells, Fothergill, Manush, Rigney, Haney and Blue, although the latter really was a product of Jennings' leadership.

Except for isolated instances notably Stanley Harris, with Bluege, McNeely and Marberry; Tris Speaker with Shaute, Edwards and Myatt; and Branch Rickey, with Bottomley, the rest of baseball has been more or less at parade rest in the matter of developing the young idea.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

"Indian Joe" Sioux Indian Black Hills, N. D., war veteran entertained students of Central High School at the assembly Tuesday afternoon in Jean B. Elwell Auditorium.

He told the students of the real traits of the Indians, and said that a large percent of the reading material about Indians is wrong and gives the opposite impression. If an Indian is divorced, he can never marry again. "Indian Joe" declared. He described the Indian marriage ceremony about his bride and the gift of land and horses and other valuables to the parents of the girl.

Indian babies are given the name of the first thing a mother looks upon after the child's birth, which causes such names as "Rain-in-the-Face," "Sitting Bull," "Red Feather," "Sunsine Eagle" and others. He told of the Indian war dances and other ceremonies and gave an exhibition of one dance carrying bells and a tom-tom.

"Indian Joe's" father is 100 years old and witnessed Custer's massacre. He exhibited Indian wampum and beaded work, deer skins, tomahawks, knives and other articles. He is a government representative, trying to raise funds to return to college after his war service. The pupils paid an admission fee of ten cents.

KNOW YOUR SCHOOLS PROGRAM DRAWS BIG AUDIENCE TUESDAY

The Thespian endeavors of the gradepupils of Spring Hill and Orient Hill Schools, in the first of the "Know Your Schools" programs, at the Jean B. Elwell Auditorium, Tuesday evening was witnessed by an audience of parents and patrons that filled the auditorium.

The program opened with a "Manner Drill" by the boys of the first, second and third grades of Spring Hill School, which was one of the cleverest acts on the program. The young boys were dressed in true minstrel style black-face frock coats, high hats and canes, and performed the drill with mirth-provoking antics.

The miniature minstrel-men were enthusiastically received by the audience.

The girls of grades one, two and three of Spring Hill School took part in a parol drill, dressed in dainty white frocks and carrying gay parasols. The children were well trained and the drill was prettily performed.

The Spring Hill School program closed with "Mother Nature's Picnic" by the pupils of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades. The prologue to the piece was given by Lois Spahr. The characters were: Bernice Bath, "Mother Nature," Edwin Bath, "Weatherman," Howard Thompson, "King Winter," Irma Van Horn, "Queen Summer," Geneva Black "Spring," Frederick Clark, "Autumn," Ralph Ennis, "Jack Frost," Gerald Morgan, "Peter Crow," Ruth Hubbard, "North Wind," Ethel Cook East "Wind," Helen Schwelbld, "South Wind," Eleanor White, "West Wind," and Harold Schweibold and Paul McClellan, "Heralds."

The second part of the program was "A South Sea Holiday" an operetta, presented by the pupils of the Orient Hill School. The first scene was that of children playing "family," Alma Adams taking the part of "Molly," Elizabeth Eavey, "Peggy," Richard Ross, "Jack," Marvin Yeager and Charles LeValley "the twins," Freda Sprigs, "Baby Grace."

The children were transported to the South Sea by "The Hawaiian Girl" Elberta Murray and the second scene was laid in that island. Lois McCoy took the part of the "Bamboo Fairy Queen" and other characters were Bamboo Fairies, "Brownies," "Butterflies," "Japanese boys," "Three Bears" and the Gingerbread men.

Pupils of McKinley School will take part in the program Tuesday evening, when grades one, two and three will present "Grandmother's Garden," and a fairytale fantasy. The second part of that evening's program will be "Midsummer Eve," a musical fairy play by the older pupils of McKinley.

Central first grade will give "The Old Fashioned Garden," Friday evening, Central Junior High School pupils will perform the latter part of that evening in "The Quest of Youth" a pantag.

PLAINTIFF COUNSEL IN DAMAGE CASE IS THROUGH WITNESSES

Attorneys for the plaintiff in the suit of Mildred Dickerson, former stenographer at Wilbur Wright Field, for $50,100 damages against the Village of Osborn and the Miami Conservancy District, on trial in Common Pleas Court, rested their case at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning with their list of witnesses exhausted.

Counsel for both sides argued before the court on a point of law during the remainder of the morning session.

First defense witnesses were called at the start of the afternoon session at 1:30 o'clock. Defense attorneys have subpoenaed fourteen witnesses, which made it appear doubtful that the case would be given to the jury Wednesday.

With the acquisition of Attorney Harry D. Smith, Xenia who has been retained as local counsel, the conservancy district is now represented by three attorneys.

Plaintiff's witnesses subpoenaed who testified Tuesday and Wednesday were as follows: William Cooper, H. R. Kendig, Mrs. O. Perry, J. A. Bishop, W. C. Jones, C. O. Perry, William Schneider, Mary Hain, William Long, Thomas Dickerson, Mrs. Nancy J. Dickerson, Mrs. Margaret Dickerson and Nathan D. Woodward.

CLOTHING STORE HAS NEW FIXTURES

New window fixtures carved from solid walnut wood, in an antique style which is considered unique, have been purchased by the McDorman and Humphrey clothing store.

Each fixture is handpainted, in fancy colors, and designs. The complete trimmings were purchased from the Oni-wa Fixture Company of Dayton, and are the latest thing in window trimming.

Mr. McDorman announces that E. A. Dement, who is now connected with The Jobe Bros. store, is putting in the new fixtures. Mr. Dement has been associated with the McDorman and Humphrey store for three years, and will continue, as in the past, to supervise the trimming of the McDorman and Humphrey windows.

MODISH MITZI—No Correctness to the Geometric Prints! By JAY V. JAY

This is Mitzi's cousin who has come for a visit. Dottie is at the age when the biggest problems of life are all in the geometry book. She doesn't even admit that there is a clothes problem—it's so easily solved with a suspender skirt or a plaid jumper dress.

Dottie admires Mitzi immensely. Mitzi can do anything—even Dot's math. Anyway she ought to be able to, reasons Dot, if she has the nerve to wear a coat all squares and geometric designs. It's self-filled, has a double breasted effect, and is well tailored as to shoulder and neck.

"Another theorem bothering you, Dot?" lightly asks Mitzi. Bothering her! It's making her see double, it's mixing right angles with hypotenuses and Mitzi's dress is the last illusion. It is of a zigzag pattern which is painted on silk (quite the newest thing) but to Dot it looks like the fifth corner to a square.

Mitzi has offered to help. Dot thinks she may be able to figure it out on Mitzi's back. Poor Dot might just as well get used to the geometric designs in materials because they have come for the season. You see squares, rectangles, parallelograms and triangles printed on handsome silks with absolutely no mathematical accuracy!

THE GUMPS—BE IT RESOLVED, ETC.

REDS WON'T FINISH BETTER THIS YEAR THAN LAST SAYS VETERAN BALL PLAYER IN XENIA

"The Reds won't finish any better this year than they did last season." This is the opinion of "Rube" Merchant, Xenia, former professional baseball player, who is now third trick roundhouse foreman of the Pennsylvania Railroad here.

Merchant played with the old Dayton Vets when that team was an important cog in the old Central League which faltered to its death several years ago after a fairly prosperous career.

Merchant was with both Dayton and Springfield when Elmer Redelle had the franchise, and was with the Vets under the management of Jonny Nee and during the days when Nee was playing second base. Earl Sykes was at first, Jack Rowan was on the pitching list along with Cy Pratt and others and "Deerfoot" Spencer was one of the outfielders.

In fact Merchant was in the loop when Spencer met his death in a railroad wreck in which the train the club members were riding on, was wrecked. At the time Merchant was pitching Central League baseball Eddie Roush, now captain and fielder for the Cincinnati Reds, "Bubbles" Hargrave, veteran Red catcher and Jimmy Cavenye, erratic Red shortstop, were all with teams in the Central loop.

"Rube" was transferred here from Cincinnati where he had been umpiring in the K. I. O. League since overweight forced out of the active pastime. While at Cincinnati he kept in touch with Roush, Hargrave Cavenye and other Red athletes he knows and his acquaintance has made him well informed on the strength and weakness of the club.

The fact that a lot of flowers that bloom in the spring turn out to be dandelions in July, is one reason why the former pitcher is not sold on the Reds chances. "This Zitsma" may be hitting the old apple in fine form down South but he'll be lucky if his batting form doesn't take a sudden change when he starts looking at big time pitching, is the way Merchant puts it.

"A lot of rookies trying to break into big time extend themselves in the training camps," he says. "The old timers, on the other hand, copy serve their talents for the championship games ahead. Thus the rookie at his best shows up strong against the veterans taking it easy. When the season starts there'll be a lot of youngsters left at the pole."

Merchant also falls to get excited about "Rube" Bressler's playing of first base, although he admits the "Rube" can clot the old pill with alarming regularity. George Harner, the Red utility outfielder released to Philadelphia last year, was also a favorite of Merchant, who believes he could still serve the Reds well.

With Fonseca however recently released Merchant has a different outlook. Admitting the warbling infielder could hit with the best of them. Merchant says he was an extremely awkward infielder, which cuts down his efficiency and forth to the club.

Merchant played in a number of different leagues during his pitching career and later pitched semi-pro baseball in Dayton. He hopes to land a berth on the umpire staff of the new South Central Ohio League of which Dean Richmond, London, is president and Raymond B. Howard, London newspaper man, is secretary and treasurer.

KING OF IVORIES IS FREE OF ONE WIFE

Nellie Ross Motchman, St. Paris, O., alleged to be one of the three wives of John E. Motchman, heralded at Columbus, was granted a divorce by Common Pleas Judge E. P. Middleton, Urbana, Saturday.

The divorce was granted on the ground that Motchman is now a prisoner in the penitentiary doing time on a one to twenty years sentence for forgery, imposed by the Washington County common pleas court last November, four months after the Motchmans had been married at St. Paris.

Charles Marie Motchman, former Columbus girl, filed suit for divorce from Motchman, March 11, 1925, at Dayton, alleging that Motchman married her in Columbus, in October 1920. She also alleged that Motchman married Esther Drott of Chicago in September of the same year and that he had not obtained a divorce from his first wife.

BRINGING UP FATHER

MICHAEL'S MARRIAGE

By MICHAEL

CHAPTER X.

Alonzo Capper kept his word (he usually did) and arranged a theater-ancing party for six, with Lilah Phaley as his own companion. Michael was to escort Alonzo's sister, Katherine, a girl two years younger than her brother, but with mannerisms and a state of mind ten years older. The others in the party were to be Aliria Early and Bob Wentworth, friends of the Cappers.

Michael marveled at Alonzo's ability to obtain a "date" at short notice with cost any girl he knew. He wondered what Lonnie said to Lilah. He reflected that there must be something to this "woo-an-hating" pose after all. "The irresistible can be the cave-man woman-hater," he decided.

Michael read Alonzo's aversion to women as pure affectation. The truth of the matter was that Alonzo was indifferent to women, and this attitude of his piqued them and aroused their interest.

The play they went to see was something in the Barresque strain. Michael knew nothing of it, but he was about when it was all over, because he had been pre-occupied in observing Lilah out of the corner of his eye. In each intermission he sought to engage her in conversation, with no success. Bob Wentworth, impolitely hanging across Alicia Early, gayly monopolized all that was said, and Michael, bored and annoyed, put him down for an idiot.

Michael began to enjoy the evening as they left the theater. Bob Wentworth pushed Alicia off to his roadster, leaving Bob to haul the rest. Alonzo cleverly maneuvered his sister into the back seat of the Menlow car with him, giving Michael the opportunity to arrange Lilah in the front seat.

"Now, Mike, old boy," he cried, "the evening is young. We'll be able to get to the dance before it is over without you smashing up the old speedometer. Besides, I don't get up early enough to go to police court."

Bob was secretly pleased to have Lonnie thus represent him as a daredevil before Lilah. He noted that thereafter she kept a furtive watch upon the speedometer, and he played up to the role of daredevil by keeping the indicator well beyond the twenty, and later, the thirty mark, despite the fact that they were threading through the after-theater crowd. It was lucky that none of the downtown patrolmen happened to see the Menlow car. They arrived at Checkley's the popular cabaret of the moment, in advance of Bob Wentworth and Alicia, and the men waited in the lobby while Katherine and Lilah "refurbished their physiognomies," as Alonzo put it.

"Well, the stage is set, my Timid Romeo," Alonzo said to Michael, as they sat with cigarettes.

"Don't try to josh me," Michael responded easily. He looked speculatively toward the door through which the girls had just passed. "She is a splendid girl, isn't she?" Failing to elicit an answer, he continued: "What do you think?"

Alonzo, watching the persons entering and leaving, murmured: "Yes, yes." He really didn't know what Michael had asked.

"Does she go with any one regularly?"

"Who—Lilah?"

"Yes," Michael was annoyed by Alonzo's inattention. "I don't know. I've seen her with Abe Mallory several times."

"Oh—Abe Mallory?" Michael uttered the words involuntarily. He didn't like Abe Mallory. How could Lilah tolerate such a fellow? The fact that she had ever gone with Abe Mallory was a distinct mark against her in Michael's eyes.

The girls rejoined them. "Let's not wait upon Bob and Alicia any longer," Michael suggested. "They can find us." They were able to get a table for six next to the dancing floor. Lilah was scarcely out of her wrap before Michael asked her to dance. She quickly glanced at Katherine. Was Michael rudely forgetting the girl he was supposed to be escorting? Alonzo came to the rescue. "Come on, Sis, you promised me this one."

With that he swung her out upon the floor, and whispered into her ear: "Don't be so dense. Don't you see he's interested in Lilah. He got me to frame this party so he could meet her."

"Well, I must say he's rather crude in his methods," Katherine answered, haughtily.

"Oh, go and choke, old egg."

He guided her into a whirling step that made her forget Michael and exclaim: "Why, Lon, I had no idea you could dance so well. Why, Lon! When I had my last party you told mama you couldn't dance."

"I can't—with the kind of girls that come to your parties," he grinned. He looked over his shoulder toward Michael and Lilah, then nudged his sister.

"You ought to see them. She's going, and he's a goner."
